

CHALLENGE TO SOUTH CITY'S STRUCTURE AND STABILITY

Why Every Apartment Owner Must Act – NOW

- South City has existed now for nearly 20 years as a single, integrated residential community.
- This stability—peaceful living, shared infrastructure, clear ownership, and strong resale value—is now at serious risk due to the decree passed in O.S. No. 401/2012, if implemented without appellate review.

THE CORE REALITIES EVERY OWNER MUST UNDERSTAND

- 1 The unified structure of the South City community is at serious risk: If the decree is implemented as it presently stands, the existing integrated association framework representing all apartment owners may no longer function as a single, cohesive body. This would undermine unified governance, effective owner representation, and the continuity that the South City community has built and relied upon over several decades.
- 2 UDS and land clarity can be irreversibly disturbed: Your ownership includes Undivided Share of Land (UDS) and common assets – not just the flat. Fragmentation or forced restructuring can permanently disturb land share, title clarity, and legal certainty.
- 3 South City's community structure will change dramatically: The decree risks forcing block-wise fragmentation in a township designed and sold as one project. This can lead to disputes, inequity, higher costs, and loss of the peaceful community living residents have enjoyed for 20 years.
- 4 Property value, resale, and banking comfort are at stake: Banks and buyers demand clarity and stability. Any uncertainty in UDS, land, or governance directly affects resale value, loans, and market confidence.
- 5 Once implemented, the damage may be impossible to undo: Changes to land and governance structure, once executed, become fait accompli. Courts may not at a later stage be able to fully restore what is willingly tampered.

WHAT EVERY RESIDENT SHOULD DO NOW

- ✓ Attend Special General Body Meeting (SGBM) when convened
- ✓ Support the Appeal and Stay to prevent irreversible harm
- ✓ Participate in the SGBM and record your consent / ratification
- ✓ Give a voluntary affidavit of support, if comfortable
- ✓ Do not believe in rumours – rely only on official communication

FINAL MESSAGE

- This is not about politics or control.
- This is about protecting our homes, our rights, and the community we have built together.
- In the current context, the very physical integrity of the South City campus is at stake. The implications of such a situation on the community—once allowed to unfold—would be irreparable and irreversible, affecting present and future owners alike.
- Silence today can mean permanent loss tomorrow.
